Faculty Position (all ranks) in Federmann School of Public Policy and Government

The Federmann School of Public Policy & Government at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem, invites applications for a full-time tenure track/tenured position in all sub-fields relevant to Public Policy, starting July 1, 2017 or soon thereafter. The position can be filled at any research faculty rank, from Lecturer (equivalent to assistant professor) to Full Professor. PhD in political science, economics, law, public administration, organizational studies, criminology, social welfare, or related fields, are required.

Candidates at the senior level must have a distinguished publication record. Candidates at the junior level must show great promise for extraordinary scholarship. Interest in the relevance of research for policy is essential. For senior applicants, a record of engagement in the policy process would be an advantage. The successful candidate will contribute to teaching and intellectual leadership in our curriculum at the master's and PhD level, and engage with other Hebrew University faculty working in related fields. The candidates are expected to teach in Hebrew.

Please visit our online application site for further information about this position and to submit your application at: <https://ttp.ekmd.huji.ac.il/Pages/default.aspx>

Applications should be submitted online until October 31st, 2016 and include the following documents:

- Curriculum Vitae - including ISI grading, Impact factor and Google scholar Number of citations for all the publications
- Scientific biography
- Research plans for the forthcoming years.
- Three letters of recommendation (sent directly on-line by the recommender. Please see directions on the online application site).

- List of required and elective courses able to teach.
- Copies of up to 3 recently published articles.
- Teaching assessment surveys, if you have.

Applications will be reviewed until a suitable candidate is identified. Appointment procedures will be conducted in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Hebrew University, and are subject to the approval of the university authorities. The university is not obliged to appoint any of the candidates who apply for the position.

This invitation applies to women and men alike.
